

Interview Questions

GEOFF CROCKER

An Enlightened Philosophy: Can An Atheist Believe Anything?

1. What is your vision about the confluence of religious myth and personal values for the atheist?
2. What does your new book offer to the atheist? to the believer?
3. Why would an atheist look to religious texts for inspiration and direction?
4. In your work with churches and religious organizations, how are religious leaders coming to grips with atheism?
5. Is there a fast-growing trend or even an avalanche of atheism in the air? If so, why now?
6. How does the study of religious myth and philosophy, as in your book, help the atheist? How does it help the believer?
7. Two thirds of the world's population believe in reincarnation. Are they wrong?
8. What would you say to an atheist who does not believe in or accept the Bible?
9. Give me an example or two of a religious myth that translates into a rewarding metaphysical direction or inspiration for someone who does not believe in God.
10. Is there such a thing as atheist spirituality?
11. Religious people turn to God when they are desperate, as many people are today. Where can atheists turn for relief from the stresses of our world?
12. What is the "God debate"? how is this controversy changing in the 21st century?
13. What is your hope for greater understanding between religions and atheists?

Publicity Contact:

Warwick Associates • warwick@vom.com • www.warwickassociates.net • (707) 939-9212
18340 Sonoma Hwy, Sonoma, CA 95476