

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

DavidPaul Doyle

IN 1989 AT THE AGE OF 21, DavidPaul Doyle knew the direction he had plotted for his life. From the 8th grade, his passion had focused on his becoming a fighter pilot, an astronaut, and eventually running for the United States Senate. Having studied in Russia and worked in the American Embassy in Moscow, and with his third year at the Air Force Academy only two weeks away, his life's goals were unexpectedly turned upside down by an extraordinary event. While riding in a car, listening to his favorite sax musician, he was suddenly enveloped by a powerful wave of overwhelming love. It was unlike anything he had ever experienced nor had even known existed. Out of this incredible infusion of love, a question formed in his mind: "If I was an old man on my deathbed, what would I have done in my life to have had absolutely no regrets?"

The question was answered as a bright light materialized in his mind. Rays from the light reached out to touch other lights, and a vivid vision of his future and true purpose became clear. It predicted he would write books that would impact people's lives throughout the world.

The thought of becoming an author had never occurred to him. Though he had no clear knowledge what form this prediction would take nor what sort of books these might be, DavidPaul was transformed by this unexplained phenomenon. He turned his back on his dreams of becoming a pilot and made an instant decision to leave the Air Force Academy. Finishing his education at UC Berkeley, he threw himself into the single-minded aspiration of understanding and experiencing the source of this profound love and truth which had so changed his life.

After years of devoted study and practice, DavidPaul has dedicated his life to helping others hear God's Voice within them. He has traveled worldwide conducting seminars and workshops to enthusiastic crowds on how to hear God's Voice, has co-authored The Voice for Love: Accessing Your Inner Voice to Fulfill Your Life Purpose, and has conducted tele-classes, year-long certification and teachers' programs, delivered free daily inspirational messages online, and produced the 30-day course, How to Hear the Voice of God.

DavidPaul's heart lies in teaching. His passion is to reach as many people as possible with the gifts of the Holy Spirit. He hopes this book of collected stories from people around the world who have experienced communication with God will inspire readers to want to learn more about hearing God's Voice and to recognize the many ways they already hear this Voice in their lives.