

CALLLING ALL NOAHS

Earth is in crisis. We all are witnesses to this. There are prophets who are saying "Prepare," and the Noahs of the world know that an ark made of wood with two of every kind is not the solution. Imre Vallyon is a true 21st-century prophet and he is saying the next 20 years are the most critical time in our entire history on this planet and will determine the future for many generations to come. Our future depends on how we respond to the tremendous forces that have been and will be hitting this planet both from exterior sources outside the solar system and interior sources from the higher planes. These forces, both materialistic and spiritual, are increasing and will increase to levels we have never before witnessed on this planet. They could move us into the promised Golden Age or send us off the deep end. We stand at the precipice, the turning fork in the road. Which path will humanity choose?

We need to understand that the earthquakes, volcanoes, extreme weather conditions, eruptions of fires, economic instabilities, governments and corporations in crisis are all part of the external and internal energies stressing our planet (and thereby stressing humanity). People who are not able to adapt to this increase in vibration hold on to the past and respond through anger, frustration, and even violence. People who can adapt to this increase in vibration rejoice in the changes and embrace and embody this new vibration. They are the ones who understand what is happening and can allow this new energy into their being, allow the higher vibration to rework and create a new human being.

The beauty of the new Aquarian frequency that has been manifesting since 1875 is that we enjoy coming together in groups, discovering more and more the power of the group, especially when the group is harmonized and works as one. When any group embraces this new vibration it becomes an enormous catalyst for change. Such attuned groups will be the 21st-century arks. Their impact on the inner planes will usher in the Golden Age. In his new book, "Planetary Transformation," Imre says that even a few thousand Souls, united and harmonized within, can lead Planet Earth through the dark days ahead. He also says that we are very lucky to be alive at this time. Why are we lucky to be alive at such a dark and critical time? Because we have been training for thousand of years for this very moment. You may not recognize the power of that last sentence, but pause for a moment and realize that you have been incarnating for thousands of lifetimes for this very moment, and if you are reading these words, you have been drawn to the truth behind these words. You have enormous treasures hidden within your own being. These treasures are waiting to be discovered—and they will be discovered. Once you discover those treasures, you will become a Warrior of Light who will make a difference on this planet. A Warrior of Light is someone who knows from within what is needed at any moment. This may seem like the writing of science fiction or a script for a Hollywood movie, but what is possible for mankind to achieve in the next 20 years is beyond most everyone's imagination. The answer lies within. The increasing energy frequency will allow many more people who are searching to find that treasure. They will come together in groups because they know a group's energy can change mankind's destiny. Prophets like Imre Vallyon have been preparing the way for the last 50 years. The time is now.
