

STORY ANGLES

Between Now and When

By Richard House, M.D.

- Goldsboro Physician Releases New Book

Metaphysical memoir captivates readers. Dr. Richard House relates his near-death experience that as a young man led him on a journey of discovery around the world. He describes the metaphysical underpinnings of the visible world as his inner-journey reveals higher-dimensional organization. Between Now and When is available in bookstores and on Amazon.com.

- What Relevance Do Eastern Teachings Have In American Life?

Dr. House, an ENT surgeon turned acupuncturist, describes his amazing discovery of the hidden underpinnings of the visible world that have been known in the East for millennia, but are relatively new to Western thought.

The Vedic and Sufi teachings as espoused by Meher Baba serve as a foundation for the author's new construct of the metaphysical workings of the universe.

Between Now and When, a metaphysical memoir, is now available in local bookstores and on Amazon.com.

- A World Tour On A Customized Harley?

Well, sort of. As unlikely as it seems, the author, a practicing physician, describes in his newly released memoir, Between Now and When, how his motorcycle, and its later sale, carried him around the world on a spiritual quest. Not for the faint of heart, this fast paced narrative describes horrific personal suffering that eventually culminates in his near-death experience and a mystical journey around the world.
