

ARE YOUR ANCESTORS EXTRATERRESTRIALS?

Rare Blood Type Points to Mysterious Human Origins

San Francisco, CA (August 1, 2015) — An internationally known expert on government conspiracies, UFOs, aliens and ancient civilizations, and a popular speaker and media guest, Nick Redfern is the author of dozens of bestsellers. His rapt audience of readers is anxiously awaiting his latest blockbuster, Bloodline of the Gods: Unravel the Mystery of the Human Blood Type to Reveal the Aliens Among Us, a page-turner that answers the question: are some of us the products of extraterrestrial gene tinkering?

In his usual spine-tingling style, Redfern is flamboyantly controversial and thought-provoking as he lays out the evidence that significant numbers of humans, at least 10% or more, are descendants of an ancient and advanced alien civilization. His extensive research finds that over the millennia, the genetic makeup of our species has been modified and refined by otherworldly beings that view human civilization as one big lab experiment.

His conclusion is that people with Rh-negative blood type have extraterrestrial origins. The vast majority of humankind—up to 90% percent—is Rh positive, which means that a person's red blood cells contain an antigen directly connected to the Rhesus monkey. This antigen is known as the Rh factor.

Every primate on the planet has this antigen except for about 10% who are Rh negative. If Darwin's theory of evolution and Redfern's research and facts are valid and every one of us is descended from ancient primates, then shouldn't we all be Rh positive? Yes, science tells us that we should . . . so exactly who were the ancestors, and the creators, of people who are Rh negative? And, what else besides their blood type has been manipulated?

From an Amazon book reviewer:

"As usual, Redfern proves himself a capable researcher who approaches a subject with an open mind rather than an agenda."

"In the best possible way, Redfern does his research, and when he relays it to the reader, he does so in a fashion that is very engaging."
