Debra Diamond

I'm a former Wall Street money manager, CNBC commentator and host of a CNN radio program who left a high profile job to pursue a life of spirituality and purpose. I've been profiled in Forbes, The Wall Street Journal, The San Francisco Chronicle, The Washington Post and numerous national publications.

For the past eight years, I've worked in the metaphysical field and honed my craft to make use of the gifts I've been given. I'm a graduate of the Holistic Studies Institute of New York, have completed mediumship training at the Arthur Findlay College in the UK and trained at the Carl Jung Institute in Zurich, Switzerland. I speak at Health and Wellness Expos, blog for national sites on spirituality, near-death experiences and psychic development. I'm the mother of three sons and split my time between the East Coast and Taos, NM.

I'm a writer, an artist, a thinker, and a psychic.
