

Channeled Teachings from Jesus and Mary Magdalene:

Astonishing Lessons for the 21st Century from the Spiritual Masters

"A profoundly simple, strong and clear book, and all you need to know to conquer the illusion of this world and help shift it into the new age of enlightenment. The rest is simply practice." Hunt Henion, author, Looking, Seeing and Knowing

San Francisco, CA (November 1, 2011)--- After years of daily mediation, Sophie Rose was contacted by a being that she perceived as Jesus. A non-religious person, at first she was shocked by the possibility that the divine presence might be real. Ultimately, Rose realized that she was to be a conduit for two of the greatest spiritual masters who have ever lived. Her astonishing new book, The Way of the Heart: Teachings of Jeshua and Mary Magdalene, presents a series of detailed spiritual lessons as relayed to her by Jesus and Mary Magdalene.

The author wrote: "In February, 2010, Jesus appeared during my daily meditation. At that time I was rejecting any idea of a savior or organized religion. I wiped from my mind this image of Jesus glowing, but he came back many times. So, I decided to begin a dialogue."

Dictated to the author during the silence of her meditations was the "Way of the Heart" course, consisting of thirty-six lessons. In the tradition of the international bestseller, A Course in Miracles, Rose lays out the channeled series of spiritual messages as a blueprint for connecting with one's soul, with God and with others in a compassionate, loving way. Also included in the book are questions from a small group of people who were able to—remarkably—receive answers from the two beings.

A new consciousness sorely needed in today's world of chaos and self-destruction, the basis of the course and of the messages of the two exalted souls lights the way to accessing our souls and becoming co-creators of our own destinies. According to the divine teachers, the greatest challenge is to undo the influence of the ego and accept Oneness as God, as the linking of souls outside space and time, and as the ultimate truth.

MARY MAGDALENE: Trusting your soul means opening up to the possibility of a higher power running your life. This doesn't mean you're "giving over your life to God." This means you accept being a true co-creator.

JESHUA: True co-creation only happens when your soul is engaged; it is your reward for connecting with God.

About the Author: Born in France, Sophie Rose was 28 when she moved to the United States. She began her spiritual quest in 1998 and became an avid meditator. In 2010, after years of meditation practice, she was contacted by Jeshua and Mary Magdalene, who began to transmit spiritual teachings.

Sophie's course brings us insights into how our past lives have manifested karma and demonstrate how, after centuries of successes and failures, we now have the opportunity to create oneness on this planet. The messages are of empowerment, that we are the ones who can create the essential change that is needed on earth at this time, and that we have the ability to establish new paradigms of thinking and bring about evolution of consciousness. For me these messages have been an inspiration and great guidance that assist me to become more aware of my soul trajectory and fulfill my dharma.
